

Its about time there was some decent traffic and weather reporting on the radio!

XM provides a crucial unmet need for me. No current traditional radio station in my area provides the in-depth coverage of traffic that XM provides. AM1010 tries, but they want to cover all NYC metro traffic in 30 seconds? Good luck!

Lets force the NAB to compete on the quality of programming and not on politics. XM is operating within the terms of the agreement they signed with the NAB -- that they would not use their repeater network to broadcast local content on national channels. Even before the NAB agreement was signed, XM was re-broadcasting the Los Angeles KISS station -- and they didnt care about that. But, now that the NAB realizes the quality of XM they want it stopped. Rubbish!

Traditional radio is no longer local. Clear Channel, Infinity and others rebroadcast major market shows to rural areas. XM is in the best interests of consumers, and the subscription nature of the product - and the strong consumer interest - mandate that the FCC allow XM to continue on its mission to greatly improve the quality of radio!
